

TERRIBLE WELSH MINE DISASTER

Five Hundred Men Entombed by Explosion at Singhenydd.

RESCUERS AT WORK.

Survivors Fear That All Imprisoned Men are Dead or Doomed to Die in The Mine.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 14.—Five hundred miners are entombed in the Universal colliery at Singhenydd, ten miles from here, where a terrific explosion occurred this morning, and it is feared that all are dead. Of the 700 to 900 men at work in the colliery when the blast occurred, 370 men have been rescued. Only six bodies have been recovered from the shaft, but the men who escaped hold to the belief that all the men remaining in the colliery are dead.

The explosion occurred soon after the men had started work this morning. The shaft and tunnels were filled with workers, and only a few were able to reach the surface unaided. Relief work was started at once and at noon 370 miners were taken out alive, together with the bodies of six dead.

Rescuers, bending every effort to save the living men entombed in the mine, saw piles of bodies in the tunnel number of dead in the mine. The known and the owners determine just how many men went to work this morning.

The number of employees vary from 700 to 900, and until the list is checked it will not be known how many were killed, as it probably will be several days before the bodies are brought to the surface.

The rescue work is hindered by mine gases, but the men are risking their lives today in the hope that some of their comrades may still be rescued alive.

Shot at Wife and Killed Child.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 14.—D. Mason, colored, after shooting his two-and-a-half-year-old child to death on Saturday night at his home in Lutton's row, South Norfolk, went back to his home later in the night and slept in a pool of blood in the bed in which his child was slain until Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

After Mason had gotten to sleep his wife took the child from the bed and carried it to the home of a neighbor where it expired shortly after the shooting. One of the child's legs was shot to pieces and the bones seen from which it bled to death. Mason was arrested later in the day by Deputy Sheriff L. D. Rawls, and Special Officer E. H. Whitehurst and lodged in the county jail.

Mason is alleged to have shot an older son in the heel several weeks ago, but claimed that it was an accident. He said yesterday when arrested that he was drunk and fired at his wife, missed her and shot the child.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Eleven or more persons were killed in the storm which swept the North Alaskan Coast a week ago.

Henry Spencer, the confessed murderer, of Chicago, yesterday added the word "ghoul" to the criminal classification which he applies to himself. He confessed to the police that he had identified a woman victim in the Iroquois Theater fire, in which 600 lives were lost, as his sister, in order to obtain her property. He said he got $1,100 in money and $1,500 in jewelry from her.

Just when the New York police believed that they had all of the Italian bomb throwers either behind the bars or intimidated the worst bomb outrage in recent months occurred yesterday at a six-story Italian tenement house on the Lower East Side. The ground floor is occupied by a grocery store owned by Candilero Gatto, a rich Italian. A man who gave the name of Joseph Weder, and who was seen running away from the neighborhood was arrested. He is the eleventh man to be arrested within a week charged with bomb throwing.

The arrest of three girls and eight boys ranging from 14 to 1 years of age yesterday, revealed a remarkable gang of youthful thieves operating in South Bend, Ind. Two have confessed. The police declare that the boys and girls have been plotting and executing robberies for several months and that their loot will amount to more than $1,000. The two boys who have confessed said the girls showed remarkable nerve and not once became frightened before the "job" was completed. The "gang" met at night in obscure places and mapped out their robberies. Their loot, according to the police, was stored in barns and a "dugout."

The fire, which destroyed the Uranium line, was caused by an explosion in the hold which killed several passengers and members of the crew, according to a wireless message received in New York. This was the first wireless message received direct on this side of the Atlantic from any of the ships which rushed to the aid of the Volturino, all the others having been sent to European stations and forwarded to America by cable.

BELIEVE BOMB CAUSED THE FIRE

Manager Suspects Steamer Volturino Was Target of Outlaws.

WAS NOT IN THE POOL.

Captain Tinsley Receives Threatening Letter—Boat Was to be Burned if it Believed.

Liverpool, Oct. 14.—Officials of the Uranium line were today preparing to urge a rigid investigation of the burning of the liner Volturino on the theory that it was deliberately set ablaze as a part of a fight to put the line out of business.

Captain Tinsley, of the Royal Naval Reserve, the manager of the Uranium line, declared that he had received many threatening letters. Just before the Volturino sailed he received an anonymous communication declaring that "one of your boats will be burned if you do not listen to our demands." Tinsley paid no attention to the letter.

In addition to the war against the Uranium line because of the low rates at which it carried emigrants, there has been trouble with the crews, it was stated.

The officers of the boats are English, but the seamen Dutch and Belgian. This has resulted in trouble at times and Captain Tinsley has been trying to man the vessels with English seamen. This action has resulted in additional bitterness.

Tinsley believes a bomb was exploded in the hold of the vessel. The Uranium line has been in operation for seven years. It is an independent company and has not been a member of the North Atlantic pool. Officials declare they have much trouble in Europe, where members of the pool are in control.

FREED OF BLAME FOR KILLING.

Not Guilty of Murder in Shooting Negro Assaultant.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Robert O. Bell, president of the Bell Book and Stationery Company, was yesterday fully exonerated of all blame for the killing of an unidentified negro who attempted to hold him up near the fair grounds Friday night.

Magistrate R. A. Smith was present at the coroner's inquest and as soon as the jury had gone through the formality of writing the verdict he dismissed Mr. Bell on the charge of murder without arraignment. Commonwealth's Attorney Frank T. Sutton making the formal motion for dismissal.

On examination of the pistol found on the negro highwayman it was found that each of the three shells in the revolver had been snapped several times, and it is the belief of Mr. Bell that the negro did not close in on him until he found that his pistol was missing fire. Of the five shots fired by Mr. Bell only one shot struck the negro and that went straight and true, almost severing the heart.

Mrs. Bell was also placed on the stand and gave a brief account of what happened. She said that she did not become frightened until she saw her husband go down under the negro and heard the pistol shots. She told of vainly appealing to two young men standing nearby when Mr. Bell and the negro were grappling on the ground. She did not know their names.

The county authorities believe the negro to be Otto Brown with criminal record but identification was impossible. After being viewed Saturday afternoon the body was turned over to the Medical College of Virginia for dissection.

CELEBRATE FOUNDER'S DAY.

Knights of Columbus of This City at Celebration in Washington.

A number of members of Fitzgerald Council, Knights of Columbus, of this city, last night attended the Founder's Day celebration held at the K. C. Hall, Washington.

Extolling Christopher Columbus as a progressive-minded citizen, as a Christian of unflinching faith, and a scholar and scientist of deep study, speakers at the exercises urged that Discovery Day be made a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, and that Columbus be canonized as the patron saint of this country.

In his opening address, Dr. Joseph A. Mudd, chairman, said, in reviewing history of the Knights of Columbus and the principles of the order, that they will stand like a stone wall against the enemies of law and order, and that there is not one Catholic who is not a loyal defender of the Constitution and American institutions in letter and spirit.

"No man in this country," continued Dr. Mudd, "ought to be proscribed or ostracized from any public office on account of his religion, and no man ought to be favored on account of his religion. No man can be a good Knight of Columbus who is not a good citizen."

JEWEL VANISHES IN THE CLOUDS

Aviator Was Flying From Hempstead to Staten Island.

4,000 FEET IN THE AIR.

Passed Out of Sight at High Altitude—Wife of Aviator is Distressed at Husband's Disappearance.

New York, Oct. 14.—With friends who sought in every way to comfort her, Mrs. Albert J. Jewel hoped against hope today that a telephone message might come telling that her husband, the aviator, apparently lost in the clouds yesterday, had been found. While she sat scanning the sky in hope of seeing a black speck appear on the horizon which would prove to be her husband's machine, wireless stations sent out appeals to incoming ships to watch for the aviator, motorboats searched the waters of Jamaica Bay, and automobile parties scoured the lonely sections of Long Island.

Jewel had been missing for twenty-four hours at 7:30 today. He left Hempstead Plains yesterday morning to fly to Staten Island. There he was to start in the race around Manhattan. He was sighted over Belmont Park flying about 4,000 feet in the air. Then he disappeared.

It is feared that Jewel lost his way in the clouds and was carried out to the dizzy height at which he was flying, but other aviators believe someone surely would have witnessed such an accident.

ARREST OF GROOM.

Baltimorean Locked up on Complaint of Virginia Girl.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Five minutes after arriving here on his wedding tour, Frank Duke, of Baltimore, was arrested yesterday afternoon in the presence of his young bride, on a charge of betrayal, made by Miss Nannie L. Toombs, 20 years old, of Glen Allen, who had sworn out a warrant against Duke immediately upon learning that the couple would spend the night in this city.

Duke, who is 30 years old, is a native of Hanover county, where, until recently, he operated a saw mill. While engaged in that occupation in 1912, the alleged offense was committed. Shortly after that time, it is said, he went to Baltimore, where he was married last week.

Miss Toombs claims that the alleged offense was committed under promise of marriage. The charge is denied by Duke.

BARBER WILL PLEAD GUILTY.

Wife Murderer is Brought to Trial in Norfolk.

Norfolk, Oct. 14.—C. B. Jones, a barber, who shot his wife to death while she was at work in the marking room of the Norfolk Steam Laundry June 30th, is now on trial for his life in the Corporation Court. Postponed from the September term because of the absence of an important witness, whose testimony is said to have been taken by deposition, the case probably will proceed promptly.

The plea of the defendant will be insanity. The killing occurred at 10:30 o'clock on Monday morning, June 30th. Entering the laundry from the rear door, on Bermuda street, Jones, who had not seen his wife for more than a month, asked the superintendent of the laundry if Mrs. Jones was there. Being informed that she was at work midway the marking room, Jones walked toward his wife and when he got within a few feet of where she stood, with her back turned, the husband drew a revolver and fired.

At the shot the woman turned; then Jones fired again, the second shot striking Mrs. Jones in the left side near the heart. The woman ran screaming to the door. Reaching the entrance on Bermuda street she staggered and fell. She died in one of the laundry wagons on the way to St. Vincent's Hospital.

COUNTERFEITERS ARE CAPTURED

Four Italians are Rounded up in Richmond Yesterday.

BAD HALF DOLLARS.

Agents of Nation-Wide Conspiracy—State Capital is The Distributing Point.

Richmond, Oct. 14.—Working with secret service officers Wright and Tate of the United States Treasury Department, Detectives Bailey, Wiltshire, Atkinson and Wiley yesterday afternoon rounded up four Italians, August Triana and Vincent Cardova and their wives, who are believed to be the principals in the flooding of the city and the surrounding country with bad half dollars. The alleged counterfeiters' agents—for it is believed the bad money is made elsewhere—are being held for the federal government in the Henrico county jail.

They are believed to be members of the gang recently rounded up by New York police.

For the last three or four weeks bad half dollars have found their way into the cash registers of business places and the pocketbooks of citizens. They came mysteriously and for a time the authorities were baffled. Their source was sought for weeks and is still being sought.

The kumshoe men of the treasury department of the United States and the detectives of the Richmond police force got busy a week ago as soon as the first clue to the distributors of the bogus coin was found. It was suspected that the money was being brought into Richmond by an Italian woman who seemed to operate out of New York, and sold to Italians here, who appear to be comparative strangers and who the police and secret service men believe to be parts of a great machine for setting spurious coin into circulation.

The arrests made here yesterday, while important, it is believed, fall far short of getting to the bottom of the conspiracy to defraud the government and make scores of innocent persons in Richmond unwitting agents of a combine of clever counterfeiters. That there is a nation wide counterfeiting scheme being operated reports from several parts of the country indicate.

The counterfeiters and their agents appear to have selected Richmond as one of the chief distributing points for the bad money, as hundreds of dollars in bogus fifty-cent pieces have been discovered here. The counterfeit half dollar was a good one—difficult of detection. It had an almost perfect ring, it looked good to the persons who took no more than a casual glance at the coin, and passed the scrutiny of many without suspicion.

An offering was taken up for the benefit of the mountain missionary fund.

Inequality of Present System in Virginia to Be Investigated Shortly

As a result of the joint efforts of the Alexandria and Richmond Chambers of Commerce a conference will be held in Richmond within the next few weeks, which will be attended by representatives of all the commercial bodies in the state, to take concerted action looking to a complete revision of the methods of taxation in vogue in the state. The Alexandria Chamber of Commerce took up the question some months ago almost simultaneously with the Richmond body and sent out letters to all the chambers in the cities calling attention to the inequalities of the present system which permits over three fourths of the counties to draw more money from the state than they contribute in taxes while the cities and a few of the richer counties are compelled to make up the difference.

A report was received from the committee on taxation of which John W. May, is chairman, at the meeting of the Chamber last night. When the Richmond meeting is held Alexandria will be represented by a large delegation, headed by Mr. May.

A report was also received last night from the committee having in charge the automobile highway from Washington to Richmond and the following sub-committee was named to assist in the work in Fairfax county where an election will be held on November 4th, to decide whether or not the Mt. Vernon district issue $90,000 bonds for the purpose of improving its roads: J. M. Duncan, Walter Roberts, H. P. Wilson, Edward S. Leadbeater and L. Louis Looze.

The following committee was named to revise the constitution of the Chamber: W. A. Smoot, Jr., J. W. May and Robert S. Jones.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

Tied Watchman, But Couldn't Crack Safe.

Danville, Va., Oct. 14.—A sensation was caused here when it became known that an attempt had been made by amateur cracksmen to crack a safe in the offices of the Riverside Cotton Mills here Saturday night and to secure $12,000 locked in the safe. A hole was drilled in the safe and dynamite inserted, according to Tom Watson, the white watchman, who gave the alarm. If the dynamite was exploded it was not sufficient for the purpose.

Watson claims that when he was making his rounds of the building at the southside of the bridge over Dan River he was suddenly seized by two men at 1:10 a. m., and carried to the office on the floor above. The two men were masked, according to Watson. After securely tying him to a chair, he says, one of the supposedly amateur cracksmen held a revolver to his head, while the other drilled the safe. The attempt to wreck the safe having failed, Watson says the two masked men carried him downstairs and bound him to a work bench.

Watson finally attracted attention by his cries and was found tied to the bench by officers upon their arrival.

Watson, who came here two years ago from North Carolina, is held pending further investigation, while John Pruitt and Henry Dixon, both white, are held as witnesses.

DISTILLER JUMPS BAIL.

Disappears Half Hour Before Court Convenes.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—F. W. Harper, proprietor of the Beaver Dam Distillery, who was placed on trial in the United States District Court on Saturday morning for frauds against the government, disappeared yesterday morning thirty minutes before Judge Edmund Wadhill, Jr., convened court to continue his case. He was at liberty on $1,500 bail and free to come and go. United States Marshall Smithers scattered his deputies to the four winds yesterday and asked the aid of police in this city and Petersburg in the effort to apprehend him. At a late hour last night no trace of him had been found.

Harper went to the office of his attorney, Robert H. Talley, in the Mutual building about 7:45 o'clock yesterday morning, went out and returned again at 9:30 o'clock. Court was to convene at 10:30 o'clock, and Mr. Talley was preparing to introduce the evidence for the defense. Shortly before 10 o'clock Harper left Mr. Talley's office to find two necessary witnesses and bring them to court. That was the last time he was seen.

JACKSON MONUMENT.

Governor to Urge Every One to Contribute to Jackson Monument.

Richmond, Oct. 14.—Headed by Dr. James R. Smith, members of the Stonewall Jackson Monument Corporation, of which Dr. Smith is president, called on Governor Mann yesterday and urged him to issue a proclamation specifying Jackson's birthday as Jackson Monument Day and calling on everyone to contribute on that day toward the fund for the erection of an equestrian statue in Richmond to that famous Confederate general.

The Governor was very much impressed with the idea and expressed his entire willingness to comply with the request. However, he suggested that he be given time to communicate with other chief executives throughout the South with a view of getting them to issue a similar proclamation. This was satisfactory to his callers, who thought the suggestion an excellent one.

"THE SPIDER AND THE FLY."

Richmond Minister Preaches Against Modern Dangers.

Richmond, Oct. 14.—Saying that he understood that the State Fair Association had lost $23,000. Dr. Asbury Christian, pastor of the Union Station Methodist Church, in his sermon Sunday morning, cried that he "wished to God it had been $123,000."

Dr. Christian said that he did not go to the fair himself on account of the sale of liquor on the grounds, and that he believed many others stayed away on the same account. "But this has just been a little preliminary skirmish. We are just getting ready to fight," said the Methodist preacher.

In his sermon Sunday night on "The Spider and the Fly," Dr. Christian spoke to a large audience on some of the most common webs to draw people to destruction, numbering prominently the State Fair, the Elks' Home, the vaudeville stage, the automobile girl-enticer, the new dances—among them the "polecat promenade"—the social glass and the saloon.

Among other things Dr. Christian said:

"Among the spider webs of today is the ordinary common theater. Recently a city paper had an editorial about a Richmond girl's promotion to the position of actress, and I bowed my head in sorrow. Common theatrical life teems with social corruption, making for betrayal and broken marriage vows. It is not pretended that all actors or actresses are supremely immoral, but the temptation is luring and the environments terrible. I had rather see a daughter of mine be taken to the graveyard than join one of these common, low theatrical companies. It's a spider web."

SENT TO PENITENTIARY.

Two Cocaine Dealers Get Five Years Each, a Third Is Sent up for Two Years.

Richmond, Oct. 14.—Three negroes convicted of having been engaged in the cocaine traffic were given penitentiary sentences at the conclusion of their trials in the Hustings Court yesterday. Two received sentences of five years each, and the third was given two years. Several other cases were disposed of.

James Blount and Fred Johnson, arrested at different times, on charge of selling cocaine were tried and found guilty of having the drug in their possession and of disposing of it to the "coke fiends." Each was sentenced to five years. Sidney Braxton, also found guilty of the charge, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

OCTOBER'S CALLING

I'm thinking of the wood-path where today I'd love to be,
A road that's winding downward, a road to Arcady.

A path that I have followed with my sweet-heart by my side,
When the first frost of the autumn
called October for his bride.

A fine old shady wood-path where the sunlight filtered down
Through the ever-changing branches,
Far from noise and strife of town.
And I'd repeat the story, ever new,
yet often told,
When the first frost of the autumn
turns the leaves to brown and gold.

When Miss October's calling it is very hard to say,
And I'm longing for that wood-path,
where I'd love to be today.

A stroll with my sweet-heart
through the wood-land's fairy scene,
When the first frost of the autumn
waves his wand o'er Summer's green.

WASHINGTON PARKS
FOR ALEXANDRIANS.

While Alexandria has no beautiful parks of its own to be enjoyed in the summer months and in these delightful fall days when the air is just keen enough to make the blood tingle and a stroll through the woods becomes one of the most delightful of all amusements, it is fortunate in being located within such a short distance of Washington where the parks are as varied as they are numerous,
ranging from the placid levels of Potomac Park, skirting the river, to the rugged stretches that fringe Rock Creek and the majestic woodlands surrounding the Soldiers' Home.
There are so many beautiful spots that invite one to stop and lay aside
the worries and cares of a busy life and enjoy nature in its most delightful mood that a selection is difficult.

Some may feel a sadness at the approach of winter and regretfully watch the coming of Jack Frost as he nips his way across fields and forest, sowing the meadows and trees with a filmy iridescent coating, but to the true lover of nature there can be no sadness in the approach of any season, for each presents its own characteristics which bring a charm peculiar to its own.

The Washington parks are at their best just now. The trees are red, re-low in scarlet with their fall fol-lage; the landscape is changing from its emerald to its coral and saffron, with here and there a touch of ver-million, soon to take upon itself a sober dress of gray brown drap. The ground is covered with a velvet carpet of dying leaves strewn with fallen nuts which have lost their hold upon their parent stems and pattered down to earth. Above can be heard the chatter of the squirrels as they leap from bough to bough while in the air is the mysterious whisper of coming snows and whirling woods.

But no picture is complete without its human side, and in the Washington parks people that live of the stuffy streets, find a deep pleasure.
Along winding paths boys and girls walk hand in hand and in leafy bowers, seated upon fallen logs, sweethearts sit and dream away the happy hours.

HOUSE REFUSES BRIDGE APPROPRIATION.

Another chapter in the involved history of the projected Memorial Bridge across the Potomac was added yesterday when the House of Representatives by a vote comprising less than a quorum, refused to concur in the Senate amendment to the urgency deficiency bill appropriating $25,000 for the memorial bridge commission provided by an act of the last Congress.
When the commission was created by act of March 4, 1913, it was supposed that the memorial bridge survey was fully financed, but it was discovered later that the supposed appropriation was not such in fact but merely a limitation of expenses to the amount of $25,000. The amendment adopted by the Senate, which Chairman Fitzgerald of the House Committee wished to have agreed to by the House, corrects this defect and supplies the funds necessary to enable the commissioners to proceed with the survey. Objections were voiced in the House and in the course of the debate the suggestion was advanced by the chairman of the House district committee, that the memorial bridge plan is merely "a real estate project."

The latter suggestion on the part of some of the representatives must be based on ignorance, as there has never been the slightest suggestion heretofore than that the whole idea of the building of the bridge was based on the cleanest and most patriotic motives.

Commenting on the latter portion of this same thought the Washington Star says:

"It is astonishing to find such an assertion having any influence at all with the House of Representatives or received in any degree of seriousness.
If there is one public enterprise urged in the District of Columbia, above all others that is free from the least suspicion of having been designed for purpose of private advantage, it is this of throwing across the Potomac river a bridge commemorative of the reunion of the sections, physically joining the site of the memorial to Abraham Lincoln and the soil of Virginia at the site of Robert E. Lee's ancestral home. Such a bridge was proposed many years ago, long before the Lincoln memorial plan had been developed, and it was conceived as a patriotic proposition solely, by men who have passed away and who had at the time not a dollar's worth of interest in any lands affected by the suggested structure. At no time in the history of the memorial bridge project has there been the least ground for viewing it as a real estate project, indeed,
the most urgent practical objection that has been raised against it from the outset has been that it would have little practical utility in view of the fact that its approaches would lie in public grounds."

The appropriation item for this purpose is not lost, for it will be a subject for conference when the bill is committed to the representatives of the two Houses.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work,
and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna
Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's remedy, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored.
I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial.
It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

SHOT HIS FATHER.
Eighteen-Year-Old Boy Slightly Wounded Parent.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Stuart W. Pierce, 18 years old, last night shortly before 7 o'clock shot his father, Stuart M. Pierce, in the left thigh, with a rifle, when the latter, it is alleged, returned to his home in a drunken condition, broke up furniture and threatened to beat his wife. Pierce's wound is not serious. Pierce is alleged to have gone on the rampage shortly after he got home from work. After knocking furniture right and left, smashing one chair, he is alleged to have gone on the porch, where his wife had run, through fear of him. The son followed, and before any one realized his intentions, he shot his father. With a groan the man fell upon the porch, and in the excitement the son vanished.

KANN, SONS & CO.'S STORE

Well-Known Washington House Celebrate Twentieth Anniversary.

Two decades ago the firm of S. Kann Sons & Co., of Washington, without established patronage on previous local reputation, opened a department store in the three-story building at the corner of Market Space and Eighth streets. Yesterday the firm, long recognized as one of the leading mercantile enterprises in the Capital City, marked its twentieth anniversary with the opening of several new departments in a store now occupying ten times the space afforded at the original opening.

One of the new departments which through its appeal to every mother gives promise of becoming one of the features of the store, is the infants' department, located in a cozy corner on the second floor. Besides displaying here every article that makes for the baby's comfort, a uniform nurse is in constant attendance to discuss with mothers the care of their children. Accommodations are also provided for parents who take their babies on shopping tours.

The shoe department has been moved to the fourth floor, where greater space is had. During the anniversary week a special sale is being held in slippers for evening wear. Increase space has also been provided for the art goods department, and a doll class is being maintained for women who desire to learn the latest stitches and ideas in lace making and embroidery. The book department has been transferred to the basement, thus permitting of a larger stock.

To the busy shopper probably the most appealing of the new features is the restaurant, situated on the fourth floor. This commodious room, done in driftwood green and white, is reached by seven passenger elevators. Eastern windows and a skylight diffuse soft but ample light. The kitchen has separate sections for the pastries, the meat and vegetable cooks and the salad chef. Each of the rooms is lined with white tiling.

Provision has not only been made by the firm for caring for the comfort of its patrons. During the month an employees' dining room will be opened. Kann's store is liberally patronized by Alexandrians, most of whom would not consider a visit to Washington complete without stopping at the well-known and popular house.

SCENE IN THE HOUSE.
Underwood and Hobson Engage in Exciting Colloquy.

A political debate between Oscar W. Underwood and Richmond P. Hobson, candidate for the United States Senate from the State of Alabama, that was conducted with a spirit that at times bordered on the sensational yesterday was staged in the House of Representatives.

The names of President Wilson, William J. Bryan, and Thomas F. Ryan, of New York, were brought in to the discussion in a manner that excited the interest of Republicans as well as Democrats, and the debate lasting nearly three hours, was witnessed by a crowded House and packed galleries.

Mr. Hobson reiterated a charge that he had previously made on the stump in Alabama that Mr. Underwood, as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination last year, was used as "a tool by Wall Street," and that he was likewise "a tool of the liquor interests." Mr. Hobson further charged that support for Mr. Underwood's Presidential candidacy "was obtained under false pretenses."

Mr. Underwood replied vigorously, calling upon his antagonist to produce evidence that he had ever served the interests of either Wall Street or the whisky ring.

Rev. Richmond Defiant.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—The Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, of Philadelphia, yesterday delivered another of his vitriolic sermons. He attacked Tammany and its leader, whom he called "New York's arch devil." He praised Governor Sulzer and denounced the Tammany senators sitting as judges.

Referring to the move to bring him into court for libelling the "impetuous" court, Mr. Richmond said: "I don't care a fig for this bunch so far as a subpoena is concerned. I sent word to the gang that I would be glad to take the stand at any time."

Newport.—Mrs J. F. Commerford, of New York, has asked the naval authorities permission to disinter the body of her son and take it to New York. He enlisted under an assumed name, and was drowned on the destroyer McCall.
